

Massey Ferguson Harvesting Events 2015

30 April 2015 by Massey Ferguson

Last week Peacock & Binnington in association with Massey Ferguson's Harvesting team hosted a two day event to showcase their investment in the harvesting business

Customers in attendance were given a presentation on the history and heritage of Massey Ferguson Harvesting by Joe Ford (AGCO Harvesting – North UK Area Sales Manager), highlighting the $50 Million investment in the Breganze factory by AGCO.

This was followed by a comprehensive machine walk round by Howard Warnes (AGCO Harvesting Sales Support) enabling customers to see first-hand our demo Activa 7345S(MCS) and Beta 7370 combines.

Guests were also given an insight into Peacock & Binnington's commitment to harvest products with information on service training and an announcement that we are one of only two Strategic Stocking Parts outlets for AGCO in the UK.

Thank you to the customers and staff in attendance, AGCO's harvesting team for their support and last but not means least our venue hosts The White Heather & Park Lodge Shooting School for their excellent hospitality over the two days.

Peacock and Binnington already have several demonstrations booked in for these two models, along with the Delta combine which will be arriving shortly. If you would like to see the combine at work on your farm then please contact your local dealership to book a demo.

Source: AGCO, Massey Ferguson