

Shantui Road Rollers Receive “China Top Quality Brand” Award

2 June 2015 by Shantui

On April 28, the Machinery Industry Federation of China held its 2015 Brand Strategy and National Industry Promotion Working Conference in Beijing. At the conference awards were given recognizing standout performances for products, brands, and companies. Among the recipients was Shantui, receiving the award for 2014 China Top Quality Brand, in recognition for the excellence of its road roller products. The award was determined by a combination of customer satisfaction surveys and input from industry experts, and is a testament to Shantui's standing in the industry as well as an affirmation of the company's brand influence in the road roller market.

After more than 10 years of development, Shantui's line of road rollers spans many variations, including pneumatic rollers, vibratory rollers, hydraulic rollers, dual-drum rollers, and many more. Due to their reliability, compaction performance, low maintenance costs, and price advantage, Shantui rollers have become a customer favorite at home and abroad. Faced with a slow construction market, Shantui will continue to find new ways to innovate and better carry out its value promise, such as developing the technological capabilities of its products, and improving its aftermarket service.