

Niftylift Opens Doors to New World Headquarters

11 June 2015 by Niftylift

Niftylift celebrates the opening of its new World Headquarters in Milton Keynes

Niftylift celebrated the opening of its new World Headquarters by hosting a special Open Day at the facility in Shenley Wood, Milton Keynes recently.

The Open Day which was held on Friday 5th June was open to suppliers and customers, and Niftylift welcomed visitors from around the world to take their first look at the exciting new facility.

Visitors to the Open Day were able to view and operate examples of Niftylift's entire product range, including Niftylift's award-winning Hybrid range. There was also an indoor exhibition where visitors could learn about the business, its innovations and interactions with the marketplace and local community.

Centre stage however, was Niftylift's new state-of-the-art facility, which covers more than 28,000 square metres. It houses Niftylift's Sales & Marketing, Finance, Research & Development and Machine Production functions, with just Service, Spare Parts and Refurbishing remaining at its Stonebridge facility.

With some well-deserved optimism about the future, Niftylift has space earmarked for future development on the Shenley Wood site, with a dedicated R & D Centre and Visitor / Training Centre already planned.

Bringing cutting-edge technology together with environmental consciousness, the new Shenley Wood headquarters is the very embodiment of Niftylift's business ethos. It will open the doors to new employment opportunities within the region and give Niftylift the 'room to grow' that it needs to continue to develop its reputation as a successful, sustainable British manufacturing company and compete on the world stage.