Worry free solutions for your Warehouse needs

Nowadays, various industries are looking for a clear cut solution for their material handling needs.

Warehousing and Logistic companies, in particular, with their high needs in Material Handling solution, has started to move out from the norm of having to maintain their own equipment and are shifting to solution providers who would take away their headache of maintaining and keeping parts and monitoring maintenance schedules.

Why did rental become a popular choice for many customers?

Here are the Top 5 Reasons why people started to rent versus buy:

1. Improved cash flow

Rather than tying up cash with a large up-front outlay or constant financing charges, rental expenses are not as expensive as investing a new equipment. It is immediately deductible and there are no related costs for warranties, insurance, transport or storage, freeing up even more cash. In short, a flexible OPEX trumps a high CAPEX.

2. Lower business risk

Obviously, renting does not involve a long-term financial commitment. You simply return the equipment when the contract is completed and the payments end. This eliminates the risk of expensive new machinery standing idle, depreciating in value and slowly becoming obsolete. Renting also increases the equipments up-time; because replacements are typically available immediately should rental equipment break down on the job.

3. Access to new equipment technologies

Renting is a cost-effective way to avoid equipment obsolescence and to add more efficient and emissions-compliant machines to your fleet immediately. The latest equipment can enhance worker productivity and increasing per-hour profitability on the worksite.

4. More time to focus on your work

Renting reduces the load of machinery service, repair, and insurance from your daily tasks, giving your team more time to focus on doing exceptional work. MHE-Demag offers a 360 degrees customer service that can accommodate needs of the customer to ensure equipment uptime.

5. Improve Safety

Forklift owners must make sure the equipment is properly maintained and meets all the relevant safety requirements. Many workplace accidents happen due to neglected equipment maintenance schedules and poor working conditions. With a rental, you can minimize the risk as all equipment will be maintained regularly by the rental company.

As the only company that can provide rentals for ranges of equipment starting from Forklifts, Reach Trucks, Electric Stackers, Power Pallet Trucks, as well as aerial work platforms, MHE-Demag warehouse rental solution provides a one-stop solution for warehouse needs.
