

IFAT impact Business Summit—Knowledge and networking: participation can be planned now

3 September 2020 by Messe München

From plastic recycling and climate-resilient cities to insights into the markets of China, India and Africa: participants of the digital IFAT impact Business Summit can now plan their individual conference program and book product presentations and networking appointments.

- IFAT impact Business Summit from September 8 to 10, 2020
- Conference program highlights
- Product presentations and networking appointments available for booking

The Live Conference and Solution

Tours highlights include

Implementation of the EU Plastics Strategy

Federal Association of the German Waste, Water and Raw Materials Management Industry (BDE)

Sept 8, 2020, 10:30

From a Yogurt Cup to a (New) Recycled Product

German Engineering Federation (VDMA)

Sept 8, 2020, 11:45

Artificial Intelligence for Environmental Technology

Bavarian State Ministry of the Environment and Consumer Protection

Sept 8, 2020, 16:00

Heavy Rainfall and Urban Restructuring: the Example of the “Climate-Friendly Region with International Appeal” in the Ruhr Area

German Association for Water, Wastewater and Waste (DWA)

Sept 9, 2020, 16:15

Detection of Substances in Water

German Technical and Scientific Association for Gas and Water (DVGW)

Sept 10, 2020, 12:30

Market insights

Africa: Non-Revenue Water

Sept 8, 2020, 13:30

China: Zero Waste Cities

Sept 9, 2020, 10:00

India: Circular Economy and the Waste Recycling Industry

Sept 10, 2020, 10:00

Planning the participation and booking B2B networking

The offer of the Business Summit is updated daily. This does not only include further details on the conference program, but also the product presentations and meeting opportunities offered by the exhibitors. The platform's Summit Planner will help participants put together an individual program for the three days and book presentations and appointments with exhibitors. Participation is free of charge.

Source: Messe München GmbH