Wondering which of the new FiveTech® series of plants would be great for your job?

CIFA is upgrading its range of batching plants to offer products with an increasingly higher value and capable of providing solutions for any need.

- Diamond Series: the most advanced solution designed with a view of optimising the production costs of ready-mix producers both in the case of projects and for concrete distribution centres.
- Sapphire Series: has been designed in detail to make handling easier during transport by sea, for the benefit of the most remote countries and sites across the world. A leaner and more optimised product compared to the Diamond series.

- Zircon Series: a simpler solution that still provides high performance, durability and precision, with the same efficiency and product quality.
- Dry Series: dedicated to dry dosing markets. These are semi-mobile plants that require very simple foundations, can be transported with standard trucks and are designed to reduce assembly and disassembly to a minimum.

The FiveTech® plants are made of:

- Great modularity features
- High construction quality for optimum results
- Ease of transportability and installation
- Dosing precision and reliability
- Cutting-edge mixing technology
