Machine26 is developing digital tools that enable construction companies to easily and quickly re-sell used equipment.

By digitizing the sell-off process, they easily identify the best price from the buyer network - saving valuable time and money. Obtaining a quote through the Machine26 tool ensures a fair process to buyers as well as compliance guidelines.

With the help of the Machine26 Inspection App, construction companies have an overview of the condition and value of their machines at all times.
